Phase G – Implementation Governance

by Roger Evernden

Implementation Governance explains how to provide architectural oversight of the implementation. In this poster we summarize key points about this phase.

Phase G

Phase G is where all the information for successful management of the various implementation projects is brought together. In parallel is the execution of the development process, where the actual development happens. Here we:

- Ensure conformance with the Target Architecture by implementation projects
- Perform appropriate Architecture Governance functions for the solution and any implementation-driven architecture Change Requests

Inputs

Phase G establishes the connection between architecture and implementation organization, through the Architecture Contract.

Reference Materials

- Any useful architecture reference materials (often from external sources)

Non-Architectural Inputs

- The Request for Architecture Work and Capability Assessment

Architectural Inputs

- The Organizational Model for EA; Tailored Architecture Framework; Request for Architecture Work; Statement of Architecture Work and Architecture Vision
- Populated Architecture Repository, including reusable building blocks
- Architecture Definition Document and Architecture Requirements Specification
- Architecture Roadmap and Implementation and Migration Plan
- Architecture Contract and Implementation Governance Model

Steps

- Establish an organization ensuring compliance with the target architecture, not only by the implementation, but also by other ongoing projects.
- All steps are important, but the steps are shown with a color scale.
- Define scope and priorities for the Implementation Governance
- Identify Deployment Resources and Capabilities
- Guide Development of Solution
- Perform Enterprise Architecture Compliance Assessments
- Implement Business and IT Operations
- Perform Post-Implementation Review and Close the Implementation
